Engineering and Architectural Jurisprudence

A PRESENTATION OF THE LAW OF CONSTRUCTION

FOR

Engineers, Architects, Contractors, Builders, Public Officers and Attorneys at Law

BY

JOHN CASSAN WAIT, M.C.E., LL.B.,

(M.C.E. Cornell; LL.B. Harvard)

Attorney and Counselor at Law and Consulting Engineer, Member of the American Society of Civil Engineers; Sometime Assistant Professor of Engineering, Harvard University, and 1900-1904 Assistant Corporation Counsel
The City of New York

"I have already found it a valuable aid for speedy and reliable work."—Justice P. H. Dugro.

"Such a book will prove of the greatest service to the profession of law as well as to architects and engineers."—Justice Joseph F.
Daly.

"The profession is indebted to you for so valuable a contribution to its literature."—Justice Roger A. Pryor.

"We know of no recent work which appeals more to the needs of the practitioner than this treatise."—The Green Bag.

"It can be recommended to all practitioners having to do with the work of contractors, builders, architects, or engineers."—The New York Law Journal.

"It is almost invaluable to those engineers who undertake contract work. It is an admirable work, simply written, well arranged, fully indexed, and very complete."—The Electrical World

Foreword

FIVE years have passed since the publication of a list of Cornell lawyers. A new list has long been wanted. Recent deaths, removals and graduates have emphasized its immediate need.

Personally, I had need of a new list and have spent considerable leisure time in its preparation. Many other lawyers have expressed their desire for a copy.

While its accuracy and completeness are not guaranteed, I think the information herein contained is substantially correct and that this list contains the names of nearly all graduates of the College of Law, a considerable number of the graduates of other colleges of the University and many former students in the law and other colleges. I trust it may serve, at least for a time, the need of a geographically arranged list of Cornell lawyers in the various localities of this country, particularly the larger commercial centers.

The date of admission to practice, wherever known, is given, as well as such other information as was immediately available.

It is hoped that this list may serve the present needs and prove of some use to my fellow Cornellians who, like myself, are practicing law.
